As an avid, non-country club, golfer for over 40 years, averaging over 75 rounds per year, I have played many layouts and public facilities. I play in groups as well as walking on as a single, and have learned a great deal from my playing companions over the years. My expertise? I know what a golf course needs, for the players to value and enjoy their round, and for them to return. Simple as that. I come from, and have a golfing family.
