

CITY OF SANTA BARBARA WATERFRONT DEPARTMENT

MEMORANDUM

Date: September 25, 2014
To: Harbor Commission
From: Scott Riedman, Waterfront Director
Subject: Business Services Report

CHANGES AT THE MARITIME MUSEUM STORE

In August, the Santa Barbara Maritime Museum opened new doors – literally. The Maritime Museum added a beautiful new wooden door into their Museum store. The new door is immediately off of the main entrance into the Waterfront Center building. The new entrance will better serve the public and create a more active foyer area for the entire building.

The historic bulletin board that formerly occupied the space of the new entrance has been installed adjacent to the elevator. This new location allows for the craftsmanship and historic nature of the bulletin board to be more prominently displayed.

FISH MARKET MOVES WAREHOUSING AND PROCESSING

Having outgrown their current space, the Santa Barbara Fish Market officially moved their warehousing and processing activities into a newly renovated building on North Quarantina Street. The newly-renovated facility includes a 3,000 square foot building and a 5,000 square foot storage yard adequate enough to store all of their delivery vehicles. The facility contains state of the art processing and warehousing facilities and will allow the Fish Market to continue to expand their business.

The Fish Market will continue to operate their retail business from the current space at 117-A Harbor Way. The relocation of the warehousing and processing activities has freed up existing interior space at the current location and, looking towards the future, the Fish Market is interested in possibly renovating the space to provide a more inviting and open retail experience.
