

6.0 SIGNIFICANT IRREVERSIBLE ENVIRONMENTAL CHANGES

No significant irreversible changes environmental changes or significant commitment of non-renewable resources would result from implementation of the proposed project. Construction of structures is proposed on the DFP, but this consists of a single caretaker's residence and a toilet. These structures could be removed, and the area disturbed could be revegetated. In any case, these structures would not require a substantial use of nonrenewable resources. Proposed off-leash dog use is a recreational use that is already occurring on all project sites that are appropriately designated in the General Plan Land Use Element, and does not irretrievably commit the City to any particular land use. Moreover, the use of land for recreational purposes does not irretrievably commit the land to off-leash dog recreational uses, and does allow future land use options.
