HOUSING

Transitional Housing is a step between the streets and permanent housing. This list is not exhaustive but will give you an idea of the type of options.

Transition House - offers temporary housing for families while they save money for permanent housing.

Salvation Army Hospitality House – Offers temporary housing for veterans, work-seeking or working men and women, mental health clients. Requires sobriety.

WillBridge – housing for one night to six months. Takes referrals from partner agencies.

Hotel de Riviera – housing for dually diagnosed people (mental illness with a chemical dependency.) Requires sobriety.

St. Vincents Family Strengthening Program – for women and children with a limited income.

Sarah House - provides end-of-life care for low income individuals regardless of their ability to pay. Also houses patients with AIDS.

Domestic Violence Solutions – for women and children who are victims of domestic violence

Permanent Housing:

The first step to permanent housing is to complete applications with the following agencies:

Santa Barbara County Housing Authority <http://www.hasbarco.org>

Santa Barbara City Housing Authority www.hacsb.org

Peoples Self Help Housing www.pshhc.org

Note: The applications are available online and can be printed out. Or you can go in person to complete the application there. Addresses attached.

The second step, or a concurrent one, is to apply for a Section 8 housing voucher.

The Section 8 Housing Choice Voucher Program allows low-income households (voucher holders) to pay approximately one-third of their income in rent and utilities to participating housing providers. The remainder of the rent is paid through federal subsidies to the housing providers by HACSB. The waiting list is quite long but chronically homeless individuals may be given priority in certain circumstances. Section 8 Housing Program Inquiries Veronica Loza, vloza@hacsb.org
